Feeling stuck?

We all feel weighed down or held back when life gets challenging. If you find yourself feeling sad or stuck, it's ok to ask for help. You don't have to face your problems alone.

With support to work through your issues, you can find new ways to make life more manageable.

You can figure out your problems and get your life and relationships back on track.

Counselling can help

Counselling can help you to find the skills to manage your life or relationships, build supportive networks and feel more in control.

People from different life situations attend counselling. Discussing your issues with a professional in a collaborative way will help you to find inner resources and strengths to achieve your goals.

Everyone deserves to live life to the full.

“Counselling has helped me get everything into perspective. Life for my family – and me – is so much better now!”

Counselling is available for everyone

CatholicCare is a social service agency that cares for the whole community, regardless of their race, faith, gender, religion, culture and background. Everyone can access our services, including children, adolescents, families and couples.

If you're unsure about whether you need counselling, you can phone us to speak with someone before deciding to make an appointment.

Counselling is affordable

You don't need a referral to access counselling and our fees are charged according to your income. If you are experiencing financial hardship, we can discuss payment options.

Counselling is confidential

Your privacy is important to us and we will not disclose your personal information without your express permission except when we are required to by law, for example, to protect you or someone you know from harm.
